COMMUNISM FEAR DOMINATES WORLD OUTSIDE RUSSIA

Overshadows Even Fear of War, Because It May Follow War

PROMISES ALLURE

"Jobless Old Lady in Helsingfors Lives as Well as Soviet Workingman"

(Note: A jobless old lady in Helsingfors lives as well and eats as well as the average Soviet workingman with a job. H. R. Knickerbocker reveals in the first of his series on rejection of Communism in the Baltic States.)

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 13—(INS)—The great fear dominates the world outside Red Russia today. That fear is Communism. It overshadows even the fear of war. Europe is chiefly frightened of war today because after war may come Communism.

Europe is frightened of Communism because of its promises. They are brightly alluring. Communism promises the workman and the farmer the world and all that it contains. It promises the common man better food and better clothes, better homes and better schools, more fun and more freedom than he ever had under Capitalism.

Has Communism kept its promises? This is a primary question for the world we live in today, eighteen years after the Bolsheviks took power in Russia. They have had eighteen years to demonstrate that their system of production and distribution is superior to the capitalist system. They have had half a generation to "overtake and outstrip" the capitalist world. Have they done it?

Have they overtaken and outstripped anybody? They insist they started far behind scratch in the race with America and Western Europe. They admit they have not caught up with us yet. But they claim that they have already surpassed the standard of living in the poorer countries of Europe under capitalism.

Here in Finland, with its 3,700,000 people, one time subjects of the grand duchy of the Czar, is the best place to start to test this claim. The very war which opened the doors of Russia to the Bolsheviks provided a laboratory to check on the Bolshevik experiment. Russia went to pieces in 1918. The huge block that is now the Soviet Union consolidated under the Red flag. In that block 165,000,000 people have had eighteen years of the Red system.

Fragments of Imperial Russia broke off. In these fragments, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Congress Poland, approximately twenty-five million people have had eighteen years of capitalism. Both groups in the family that was the Czar's, started from scratch. Which is better off today?

There is only one far way to find out. You cannot find out by comparing statistics of industrial production. Nor by noting the growth of factories. Nor by counting the number of tractors on the farms.

You can only find out by going into the homes of Soviet workmen and farmers just over the border of the Soviet Union, go into their factories and their cowsheds, watch them hammering steel at the bench, flaking grain in the barn. Talk to the housewives in the kitchen, play with the children in the yard. See how they live, what they wear, what they eat, how they look and talk and feel.

See which is happier today, the common man under capitalism or the common man under communism? Six weeks recently and a long background of experience in the Soviet Union, and two months in Finland, the Baltic States and Poland, with 3,500 miles of travel by airplane, steamboats, railroad, automobiles, horse-drawn sleighs and peasant carts is a small price to pay for an answer to the most important economic question in Europe today. This way of seeking an answer has never been tried before.

It led straight into the workers' quarters of Helsingfors. Streets of this city of 250,000 are clean as a scoured table. Our street car, pneumatically controlled, freshly painted, had a trim girl conductor. Her uniform was tailored. She did not look tired. The car was not crowded. Memories of Moscow's millions hanging like grapes on shabby street cars with their weary women conductors in shabby uniforms came involuntarily to mind.

We rode past drug stores fitted out in mahogany. All drug stores in Helsingfors are fitted in mahogany. We took time out to drop in at the Academic Bookshop where twelve miles of shelves hold one million books for purchase by a population with less than one percent of illiterates.

The Soviet Union rightly boasts its Red Army has taught millions to read and write, but it still has millions who can't.

In the Soviet Union you can't go to war without reading and writing. In Finland you can't go to heaven without these accomplishments for the Finnish

TURN TO THE RIGHT, MR. PRESIDENT! LET AMERICAN INDUSTRY BRING RECOVERY!

(New York American, May 9, 1935)

If President Roosevelt is correctly reported as meditating an open break with the country's business and industry because of criticism of certain New Deal policies by the United States Chamber of Commerce, it is a very unhappy sign.

We regard it as salutary that the business men of the country should express their honest opinion of the Administration's policies. Their submissiveness to the innovations, dislocations, theoretical experimentation, wild expenditure and the rapacious taxation which constitute in large part the Administration's record has been carried far enough.

When proposed measures and trends become such that any sensible man can see that they are mistaken and bound to issue in hurt to the country silence ceases to be a virtue. Out-spokenness becomes a duty.

There has been an undeniable change in public opinion. The desire to support the President and to judge the mistakes of his Administration leniently is still strong.

The fact remains, however, that many of these measures HAVE failed—utterly, admittedly.

The NRA is beyond rescue or resuscitation. The AAA is hard on its tracks, and is failing miserably by the hour.

Congress is dealing with wreckage and knows it. The President's Cabinet and his advisers are on the defensive. The Brainstormers and the New Vision proclaimers are discredited.

The people are tired of the Administration's tariff policy, or lack of policy, and many other "policies."

They are tired of Secretary Hull, the impractical dreamer. They are tired of Secretary Wallace, the cocksure emptiness of his out-givings in print and by speech.

They are tired of the flabby pronouncements of Secretary of Commerce Roper.

They are fed up with Secretary of the Interior Ickes, his wisecracks and his "come-and-get-it-if-you-can" attitude.

His willingness to use his control of public expenditures to punish criticism, as revealed in the controversy with Commissioner Moses of the Triborough Bridge Authority in New York, will not soon be forgotten.

Above all, the people are tired of the heady, opinionated and inexperienced pedagogues who swarm around the President—men of the Tugwell type and others equally offensive.

This is seen in many ways.

The confidence of the country in the Administration's ability to guide it to recovery is shaken. In the case of some advisers of the Administration distrust is felt of their purposes.

Cannot the President sense this? Can he not disencumber himself from bad advisers? Is there not basis for this falling away of popular confidence?

Let him read what his man Tugwell has to say in his latest book, "Our Economic Society," published only a few months ago, and tell us if the people are wrong to mistrust such a man and men of his type.

"For many years," says Tugwell (Page 541), "the technical task of devising plans for regulating our complex economic interests was too difficult to attempt. But today we know that this is no longer true, for Russia has shown that planning is practicable."

What do the free people of America think of that statement of Tugwell's?

What do they think of Communist Tugwell holding up Russia as an example and pattern for the United States of America?

Russia—groveling in degradation, terrorized, oppressed, starved and dead to even the hope or aspiration for freedom.

QUARTERMASTER FLAG GIVEN TO SEASCOOTS

Ship "Rainbow Clipper" at Croydon is Signally Honored, Saturday

SEVERAL SPEAKERS

CROYDON, May 13—A quarter-master flag was presented to the Seascout Ship "Rainbow Clipper" by Neshaminy Lodge, No. 301, Daughters of Pocahontas, in the Croydon Fire Company station, Saturday evening.

Following singing of the national anthem, the Seascouts marched into the building. Otto Grupp, Jr., presented Bucks County Scout executive William Livermore, Doylestown, who told how he had accepted a challenge some years ago to become a Seascout. A. Styles, field director, spoke of Scouting as a good, clean game for every Mother's son. Scouting, stated Mr. Styles, "makes good men, and creates companionship among the boys." He mentioned the 12 Scout laws, and the three phases of Scouting—Cubbing, 9 to 12 years, where the boys are molded and trained; 12 to 16 years where they learn the "mathematics" of Scouting; and the Seascout

COULD SAVE 40 PERCENT OF RELIEF MONEY IN STATE

Governor Earle, However, Won't Consent To A Reorganization

WITNESSES SO TESTIFY

HARRISBURG, May 13—If Governor Earle would consent to, instead of opposing, the reorganization of the State Relief Board, 40 per cent. of the money now being spent for relief in Pennsylvania could be saved and those who really deserve relief could receive far better care than at present.

That was the consensus of opinion of witnesses, many of them Democrats, who appeared at the opening hearings of the legislative committee investigating relief, headed by Miles Horst, Republican, of Lebanon.

The revelations of waste, inefficiency, graft, chiseling, kick-back money, wilful neglect, attempts to protect offending professional Relief Board workers and efforts to conceal irregularities which were made at these hearings produced the first Democratic revolt in the House this session the day following, when 17 Democrats refused to be driven into line in support of a motion to relieve Governor Earle from making revolution.

"EARLY HOUGH FAMILIES OF BUCKS COUNTY, PENNA."

By Wallace Irwin Hough

A Paper Read by the Author Before the Members of the Bucks County Historical Society, at Doylestown, May, 4, 1935

2. Suppose we consider briefly Richard Hough's brother, John Hough of Macclesfield, who is not known to have left England, but who owned land in Bucks County, Pa. In 1691, John Hough of Macclesfield, Co. Chester, England, bought from William Penn three hundred seventy-five acres of land in Pennsylvania, "toward the Susquehanna river clear of Indian incumbrance," and in 1694 conveyed three-fifths of this tract to his brother Richard Hough, then in Pennsylvania. This land was the tract lying in Buckingham which Richard in his will directed to be sold. John Hough's purchase called for 375 A., but the amount laid off to him was much greater than that, for the resurvey of 1702 showed Richard Hough's three-fifths of it to be four hundred seventy-five acres; this land was confirmed to him by patent Dated Nov. 24, 1702.

Very cautiously I submit a tentative record of John Hough of Macclesfield and his children which was compiled entirely from copies of Macclesfield vital statistics and vital statistics of Friends' Quarterly Meeting of Cheshire and Staffordshire, England.

John Hough was born in 1648; died 3 mo. 22, 1728, and was buried with his first wife at Macclesfield. He married first, circa 1680, Mary, born circa 1650, and died 9 mo. 12, 1715. They lived in Macclesfield and were the parents of ten children. He married (2nd) 10 mo. 9, 1719, Mrs. Ellen Sarat of Newton, Cheshire. She was born in 1666, died 6th mo. 25, 1721, and was buried at Newton.

MacKENZIE ENDS SECOND IN BIG FEATURE EVENT

Eddington Driver Gives Good Account of Himself at Langhorne

HANNON IS WINNER

LANGHORNE, May 13—A Bucks County driver, Doc MacKenzie, Eddington, placed second in the feature event at the speedway here yesterday afternoon in a race which was filled with thrills but not marred by any accident. MacKenzie also finished second in the opening 10-mile heat.

Leading from the very first lap, Johnny Hannon, Norristown, speedster and Eastern A. A. champion, captured the 50-mile classic in the inaugural of the 1935 dirt track racing season here yesterday afternoon as some 42,634 persons looked on.

Hannon also captured the opening 10-mile race and turned the oval in 39 seconds to tie with Ken Foxler, Dayton, Ohio, racer, for the fastest qualifying time of the day.

Walter Kelper, foremost of Trenton's three entries, captured the second qualifying heat of 10 miles in the time of 7:18 4-5 and then placed seventh in the 50-mile grind.

Sam Castranova, another local entry, qualified to participate in the races, but failed to place in his 10-mile heat and was forced from the consolation race by engine trouble. The third Trentonian, George Shaltin, failed to get into actual competition.

Not one serious mishap occurred

COLORED MANKILLED, ONE SERIOUSLY HURT AS AUTO HITS TREES

John Long, 20, 316 Washington Street, Dies of Fractured Skull

CRASH ON WALNUT ST.

Car Sideswiped Trees in Front of Methodist Church Graveyard

One colored man was killed and four of his friends, including a brother, narrowly escaped death here early yesterday morning when the car in which they were riding sideswiped two trees on Walnut street in front of the Methodist graveyard.

Dead:
John Long, 20, 216 Washington street, single.

The five were riding in the sedan of Junior Long, 24, New Brook street, with the owner at the wheel. He sustained a cut finger.

John Long sustained injuries of the head and died of a fractured skull in the Harriman Hospital at 4:15 yesterday morning, three hours after the accident.

James Spencer, 19, Cedar and Market streets, and a well-known football player at Bristol high school, escaped uninjured.

Henry Butler, 20, Cedar street, has his right leg broken and it may have to be amputated. He was removed from Harriman Hospital to Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia.

Samuel Braggs, 18, Pine street, has a cut over his right eye.

The car is a total wreck. Long, driver and owner of the car, was held in $2,000 bail at a hearing before Justice of Peace James Guy. He did not have a driver's license and will be given a hearing on this charge tonight.

The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Long; five brothers and one sister.

The body was taken to the Molden morgue.

According to the police the driver of the car said that he and his friends were returning from a social affair. They drove over the Beaver street hill in the direction of Walnut street and in negotiating the slight turn in the road hit the trees. The right front fender of the car struck the trees and apparently threw the rear of the car against the trees. Long was riding in the rear seat.

It is thought that Long and Butler jumped out of the car and in this way the former was fatally injured and the latter suffered a broken leg.

Both the man who was killed and Butler were well-known ball players here, playing with the Bristol Cubans, members of the Twilight League.

DEPRESSION AND SANITY

The effect of the depression on the mental state of the people has been studied by a national committee for mental hygiene. Among the specific questions for which the committee sought answers was whether the depression caused a marked increase in insanity, and how hospitals for the insane met their financial and other problems during the lean years.

It is interesting to find that the committee came to the guarded conclusion that by the end of 1934 the long-continued depression had not adversely affected the nation's mental health "to any great extent as yet." No great increase in hospital admissions due to the depression could be found. Hard times might be a "precipitating" factor, but they could not be called "a dominant influence on hospital admissions." But the committee added: "Later figures may have a different story to tell."

Before giving three rousing cheers for the mental health of the nation, however let us consider the fact that hospitalization does not by any means tell the whole story. All the mental hospitals are crowded; there are hundreds—perhaps thousands—of insane who ought to be in institutions, but are not for lack of accommodations. The committee's survey took note of the fact that the depression stopped the building of hospitals, and put pressure to bear on heads of institutions to parole patients in order to make room for new commitments.

The outstanding and uncontroverted fact disclosed by the survey is that the state institutions examined were standing up nobly under the strain of reduced appropriations, and were striving, for the most part successfully, to maintain their standards in spite of severe cuts in their budgets. The fact remains that costs are now advancing rapidly; and before the year is out many states may be facing a crisis.

WILD GAME INCREASES

Reports have it that the North-west is being again populated with wild game that had all but disappeared from forests and plains. Western Montana and northern Idaho report the appearance of thousands of elk, moose and deer.

Foresters who have made these reports attribute the increased game population to enforced adaptation of elk to the mountain environment, extermination of the cougar and partial control of the coyote on the same ranges, and creation of preserves and artificial salt grounds. Although the forest service is without funds to carry on this work, it is co-operating with state game departments in identification and control of disease and parasites, control of predatory animals and otherwise making conditions favorable for game.

Consistently followed, conservation may in time return to us that which we have almost exterminated by indiscriminate slaughter.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Nov. 6, 1873. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Week Ending November 6, 1873

A jury, appointed by the Court on behalf of A. J. Hibbs, to assess damages for the ground occupied by the extension of Franklin street from Radcliffe street to the river, awarded the sum of $275 to the claimant. The jury consisted of Edward Nicholson, Lower Mafekfield; Edward N. Ely, Lower Mafekfield; Joseph Harvey, Newtown; William Janney, Newtown; John G. Vandegrift, Bensalem; Charles Willett, Bensalem. George Ross, Esq., was the attorney for the claimant, and B. F. Gilkeson, Esq., represented the borough.

On Monday afternoon a servant of the family occupying the house of David Weston, on Radcliffe street, below Penn, deposited a quantity of hot ashes in or near the coal shed adjoining the house, and shortly after one of the neighbors residing on Cedar street, observed flames issuing from the building, and called the attention of a young man, named Fenton, there, who procuring several buckets of water, at once extinguished the flames before they had caused any material damage.

James Buchanan, incarcerated within the portals of the Bucks County Jail, because he could not distinguish the difference between meum et tuum, concluded he would not serve out his sentence. So, on Friday last, he gathered up Sheriff Purdy's silver napkin rings and silently stole away. At last accounts J. B. and the napkin rings, though earnestly sought for, were not to be found.

Frank Hamilton, of Doylestown, was carelessly handling an ancient horse pistol last Tuesday. Unexpectedly the thing exploded and flew in all directions. He was cut by several of the flying pieces on the face, hands and legs. His wounds are not considered serious.

The Frankford and Bristol Turnpike Company have declared a dividend of two dollars per share, payable on and after Wednesday, the fifth instant.

Last week Constable Pettit captured and impounded two cows belonging to Dr. E. J. Groom and Michael Garvey because they were found upon the tow-path of the canal, the fence having been torn down by the mules attached to one of the canal boats, they having been fastened thereto, and refused to release them except upon the payment of $5 for each cow. This is a case of manifest injustice to the owners of the cows, who paid a weekly sum of money to have their cows in an enclosed pasture, and did not allow them to run at large upon the streets of the borough, and consequently, according to the spirit, if not according to the letter of the Borough Ordinance in relation to cattle running at large, these cows were not liable to seizure and fine, and the Borough Council would do an act of justice by remitting the fine in this case and all others of the same class, and would also be in accord with the expression of public opinion on the subject.

On Sunday evening last a lighted lamp was accidentally knocked off a table at the residence of Captain Maurice B. Lawrence, on Cedar street, below Mulberry, breaking it to pieces. Fortunately, in falling the light was extinguished, thus probably preventing an explosion.

Monday afternoon last, Mr. David J. Mansfield, a bricklayer in the employ of Mr. Valentine Booz met with a very serious accident which might have proved fatal. He was at work on the top of a new building belonging to Mr. Elwood Doron on Washington street, where he had been topping out a chimney. He had nearly finished his work and in stepping backwards to inspect it stepped over the edge of the roof and fell a distance of twenty feet, striking on a shed and rolling from that to the ground eight feet below. His wrist was broken, his hip badly injured, and his face cut in several places, but unfortunately was not injured internally. He was removed to his residence on Otter street and Dr. L. V. Rousseau summoned, under whose care he is now doing as well as could be expected.

The poultry fanciers intend organizing a Bucks County Poultry Association for the purpose of holding a poultry exhibition in Doylestown during the coming winter.

Doylestown is working hard for a new jail. The latest novelty in the way of getting up popular feeling in favor is, upon the escape of any convict through the negligence of the officers, to set up a cry, "We need a new jail."

Peirce Brothers have broken ground for the erection of twelve houses on Lafayette street, between the railroad and the canal. The houses are to be of stone and will contain four rooms each. The work is to be pushed rapidly forward, and they will be under roof this fall or winter, and ready for occupancy by the first of April next.

Plumstead which the Proprietaries had conveyed to him by patent dated Dec. 14, 1748; and, especially interesting, that he was borrowing this money from a Mr. John Riche, yeoman, of Plumstead, who was the husband of Sarah Hough, a daughter of John Hough of Middletown Township, Bucks Co. This is the first connection in this paper between a member of Richard Hough's family and that of John Hough of Middletown.

D. Bk. 12, p. 163, shows that an Abigail Hough (possibly the wife of this Francis Hough) witnessed a deed dated June 29, 1753 between John Hough of Solebury; Hannah his wife; Eleanor Hough, widow, his mother; and William Hough, his brother; to John Barcroft of Solebury [See John Hough's Middletown pedigree ahead].

JOHN HOUGH

4. The Hough family in Bucks County, excepting Richard's family, on whom we have the most information is that of John Hough, yeoman, who came from Hough, a part of Wiltshire Parish in the Hundred of Nantwich, Cheshire, England and settled in Middletown Township, Bucks County, Penna. [The record of his arrival is given in Pa. Mag. of Hist. Vol. 9, p. 229; and an account of his immediate family is given in T. Maxwell Potts' "Our Family Ancestors," pub. 1895.]

He was born circa 1680; married circa 1680, Hannah ———. They arrived in Pennsylvania 9th mo. 1683 in the ship "Friendship" of Liverpool with their son John Hough, Jr., and five servants: George Glaire and Issabel his wife, to serve 4 years; George Glaire, Jr., their child, to serve until he is 21; Nathaniel Watmough and Thomas Hough, each to serve 4 years.

This family settled in Middletown in the north west corner of the township adjoining the land of Shadrach Walley of Newtown Twp. [See Cutler Map, 1703, p. 206, Vol. 3, Davis' "Hist. of Bucks County."] Hereafter, we shall call the head of this family John Hough of Middletown to distinguish him from Richard Hough's brother, John of Macclesfield, and from his second son, John Hough of "Houghton."

John of Middletown was a member of Middletown Meeting and later of Falls Monthly Meeting. Besides his home tract of land, he bought several hundred acres in Newtown Township, but we do not know that he ever lived on the latter tract.

In Davis' "Hist. of Bucks Co." Vol. II, p. 99, there is the statement that "In 1734, not long after the Proprietaries opened their land for settlement, John Hough purchased 200 A. on Deep Run in Bedminster Township." This refers to John Hough, Jr., son of John of Middletown.

He was a member of the Provincial Assembly for Bucks County in the year 1710.

Letters of Administration on his estate were granted Jan. 20, 1732 to his eldest son John Hough. The securities were Samuel Scott and Richard Sands (the latter was a brother-in-law of the administrator).

Francis Russell, late of Macclesfield, Co. Chester, England, who came to Pennsylvania in the "Endeavour" with Richard Hough, Francis Hough, Samuel Hough and John Clowes, and who settled first in Burlington, N. J. (1684), and later in Bucks County, by his last will and testament, dated 8 mo. 5, 1694, (reg. at Doylestown) devised 400 acres of land to the children of John Hough. This land lay in the upper part of the county, and on 7th mo. 10, 1712, it was confirmed to the heirs by the Board of Commissioners.

ISSUE OF JOHN AND HANNAH HOUGH OF MIDDLETOWN

He mar. 4 mo. 1, 1714, Elinor Sands, b. 10 mo. 5, 1692, a dau. of Stephen and Jane (Cowgill) Sands of Middletown, Bucks Co. They had issue eight children: Buckingham records:

(2nd) at Christ Church, Phila., Nov. 8, 1757, Olive Rogers, John and Olive (Rogers) Hough had issue a dau. Eleanor Hough. He applied for men-
Hough, after the death of John Hough, remarried to William Doyle, as his second wife.

VI.—Daniel Hough, innkeeper, of Warwick Twp., b. 2 mo. 5, 1725; m. Judith Hartley, dau. of John Hartley, of Solebury. He rented Doyle's Hotel 13, and bought it Oct. 1, 1776. [See Deed Bk. 11, p. 57; D. Bk. 18, p. 452; D. Bk. 18, p. 454; and Deed Bk. 21, p. 101 — all in Doylestown.]

VII.—Joseph Hough, b. 7th mo. 10, 1727.

VIII.—Richard Hough, b. 3rd mo. 2, 1728.

9. Mary Hough, b. 7 mo. 6, 1684; d. 11 mo. 21, 1711/12; m. (1st) 10 mo. 26, 1705 Jacob Jamey; m. (2nd) 3 mo. 2, 1710, John Fisher.

10. Stephen Hough, b. 1 mo. 30, 1687.

11. Hannah Hough, b. 1 mo. 7, 1690.

12. 1709/10, at Falls Mtg., Thomas Ashton, as his second wife; he had married (1st) 5th mo. 31, 1701, Deborah Baines of Falls Twp.

13. Daniel Hough, b. 4 mo. 14, 1693.

14. Isaac Hough, b. 12 mo. 20, 1694/5.

15. Sarah Hough, b. 4 mo. 31, 1701; m. John Rich, He applied for men-
Hough in Buckingham Mo. Mtg. on 10 mo. 3, 1728, and when he was accepted 11 mo. 7, 1728, he declared his intention of marriage with Sarah Hough. In 1749, Elizabeth, widow of John Walley and of Nicholas Hellings, (she was born a Hough, was sister of Samuel Hough of Newtown) left money to Sarah Riche, wife of John. Note that John Riche lent money to Francis Hough who came over with Richard Hough, Provincial Council-
16. Joseph Hough, b. 1st mo. 4, 1703; may have been Joseph of Bensalem who married Deborah

[Knight?]. See Adm. Bk. A. p. 26, Feb. 23, 1750. [The records of these last four children are from Falls Monthly Meeting.]

THOMAS HOUGH

V. The next person to be considered is Thomas Hough who came from Cheshire to Pennsylvania in the "Friendship," 9th mo. 1683, and who was under contract for four years' service to John Hough of Middletown. His family was not connected with Bucks County, for he removed to Hopewell Township, Burlington Co., N. J. He was living in Hopewell, 10 mo. 20, 1704 when he married at Fallsington, Bucks Co., Jane Cowin, spinster, of Falls.

Thomas Hough died in 1736, leaving a will. He and his wife had issue three children. [See T. M. Potts' "Our Family Ancestors" 1895.]

1. Mary Hough, m. Benjamin Cripps.

2. Hannah Hough, m. (1st) Daniel Haines, and (2nd) Isaac Fell.

3. Jonathan Hough, b. 1720; d. intestate 1778; m. Elizabeth Brian; they had issue nine children:

I.—Daniel Hough, d. unm. 1797.

II.—Letitia Hough, m. William Budd.

III.—Samuel Hough, b. 12 mo. 13, 1746; d. 6 mo. 5, 1815; m. Oct. 25, 1775 Susanna Newbold, b. 2 mo. 3, 1750; d. Aug. 22, 1815.

IV.—Thomas Hough.

V.—William Hough, d. 1781, unm.; paymaster in N. J. Militia during Revolution.

VI.—Jonathan Hough, d. unm. 1781;—left a will.

VII.—Benjamin Hough, d. unm. 1793; see will.

VIII.—Jane Hough, d. unm. 1781; see will.

IX.—Rebecca Hough, died young.

Because John Hough of Middletown brought over to Penna., Thomas Hough of Hopewell, there is some reason to conjecture that the two were related. If such a kinship exists, Thomas is also related to Samuel Hough of Newtown and to Elizabeth his sister, to Michael Hough of Newtown, and very likely to Richard Hough, Provincial Councillor, and to Francis Hough.

General Alfred Tacey Hough and Mr. Charles Merrill Hough of N. Y. C. are descended from Thomas of Hopewell.

SAMUEL HOUGH

6. Samuel Hough of Newtown Township was in all probability a relative of Richard Hough, Provincial Councillor, and fairly certainly a kinsman of John Hough of Middletown. Samuel came from Cheshire, via London, in the "Endeavour" with Richard Hough and was an indentured servant to John Clowes of Gosworth, Cheshire, who was Richard Hough's father-in-law. According to his contract Samuel Hough was to be free on July 29, 1687, and was to receive fifty acres of land. However, when Cutler surveyed Newtown Township in 1703, he owned 732 A. next to the land of Michael Hough; the latter may also have been a relative of Samuel's. [Samuel Hough's sister left money to the children of John of Middletown; and Michael Hough's father-in-law, Francis Russell left 400 A. to John of Middletown's children.]

We know that Samuel Hough had a sister, Elizabeth Hough of Newtown, for she mentions her brother Samuel Hough in her will (probated Dec. 10, 1793).

1749). It is this lady who connects Samuel, whom we consider a relative of Richard Hough, to the John Hough family of Middletown.

Elizabeth Hough of Newtown married John Walley of Newtown (the only son and heir of Shadrach and Mary (Sharpe) Walley), and they had issue four children: Joseph, John, Jr., Ananias, and Damaris. John Walley died and his widow, Elizabeth (Hough) Walley remarried to Nicholas Hellings of Newtown, as his second wife. Hellings died in 1745, and Elizabeth Hough was again left a widow. Nicholas Hellings by his first wife (name unknown) had issue a daughter Martha Hellings who married, before 1745, William Doyle, as his first wife.

William Doyle, it will be remembered, married second Olive Rogers, widow of John Hough of Solebury. [See Hough of Middletown Notes.]

Elizabeth Hough by her will left money to the children of John Hough of Middletown. There must have been some blood relationship between Samuel and Elizabeth, on the one hand, and the Houghs of Middletown, on the other. And because Richard Hough's father-in-law, John Clowes, brought Samuel Hough from Cheshire to this country, one would think that probably Richard and Samuel were related also; and hence, that John Hough of Middletown and Richard Hough the Councillor bore reasonably close ties of kinship.

Samuel Hough of Newtown has left us two different wax impressions of seals he used. One of the seals is distinctly armorial, but unfortunately not the "Argus, a bend Sable," or the "wolves' head erased, Sable."

A deed dated Fourth mo. 4, 1702, between "Samuel Hough, carpenter to John Stackhouse, of Middletown, yeoman," 300 A., etc., bears the following seal: arms—Argent, a chevron (color?) between three birds [color?]; crest—a bird?]

Another deed by Thomas Penn and Richard Penn to Samuel Hough, 1734, bears Samuel's fantastic seal: "on a wreath of the colors, a cup between two flaming hearts, surmounted by a royal crown." This device is most un-heraldic; is more like a trademark than a crest!

Communism Fear Dominates World Outside Russia

Lutheran Church refuses to confirm anyone who can't read the scriptures. We began at the bottom. The bottom was Frau Gustafson, well past sixty and jobless after thirty years as an unskilled worker. She sat in a room neat and homelike, cleaner than any worker's room I had even seen in the Soviet Union, and toothlessly grinning related the facts of her life.

She had two daughters. One worked. One went to school. The daughter earned at rug-making 400 Finn marks, the old lady picked up 100 Finn marks at odd jobs, and the county paid her another 200 making 700 Finn marks a month.

There are 45 Finn marks to the dollar, so 1 mark equals 2.2 American cents, and the family's monthly income was about $14.40.

This sum corresponds almost precisely to the average monthly income of the employed industrial worker in the Soviet Union, measured in purchasing power in his privileged, "closed, cooperative." He gets 150 paper roubles which buys about $15 worth of goods.

But right around the corner from the old lady was a workers' restaurant, tidier than the best hotel in Moscow, and here a huge egg pancake cost one American cent, a vast plate of palatable herring and potatoes two cents, a thick beefsteak with potatoes ten cents.

Frau Gustafson's visible household inventory was one double and one single bed, half a dozen hand-woven rugs, two sewing machines, a good clock, one good and one poor chest of drawers, eight pictures, two mandolins, five embroidered cushions, several chairs and a dining table, covered with a spotless cloth. She and her family eat meat three times a week, much oatmeal porridge, the national dish of Finland of Scotland, white bread, coffee and everyday many silakka. They call silakka a dwarf herring, and sell it as a delicacy abroad. It is the tastiest small fish in the world, and it costs in summer, when Frau Gustafson buys it to salt, one Finn mark a kilogram, or one American cent a pound.

There was no luxury about Frau Gustafson. She lived about as poorly as anybody in Helsinki. This jobless old lady lived about as well as the average Soviet workman with a job.

ships for the older boys. He stated much aid could be given through formation of an auxiliary by the parents. Mr. Styles concluded with much praise for Robert Brenner, Albert Wheeler and George Mossbrook.

The Ship was then turned over to the command of Skipper Robert Brenner, who went into detail in explaining about the boys learning of navigation. He said the upper Delaware River is better for this work than the lower part.

A demonstration of life-saving was given; and it was pointed out how check-ups are made as to paraphernalia each boy has charge of when the group leaves for a trip. Timed in adjusting their "sea-jackets," the boys were found to be able to do so in 55 seconds.

The quarter-master flag was then presented by Mrs. Harry Howarth, with very appropriate remarks. The flag was accepted by Commissioner Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville, who thanked the Nehemiah Council for aid given. Mr. Stockham then presented the flag to Skipper Brenner of the "Rainbow Clipper," who also extended thanks.

Commissioner Stockham read a letter from Thomas K. Keene, national director of Seascouting, in which it was stated that out of 60,000 Scouts, less than 500 have received this high rank.

There are 18 boys on the local ship, with nine quarter-masters. The first mate is John Peterson; second mate, Lawrence Morrow; bosun, Edward Curry; crew leader, William Mutch; Charles Kogel, Henry Roberts, Fred Kutzer, Howard McGoldrick; crew leader, John McDade, Ludwig Tregl; Frank Wagner, Robert Wheeler, Herbert Audsley Frank Granville.

A repast followed the program.

Could Save 40 Percent Of Relief Money in State

ary changes in the relief set-up.

Despite the presence on the floor of "Boss" Lawrence and his crew of Democratic whip-wielders the Democrats split wide open and 17 defied the Governor and served notice they meant to go along with the Republicans in a move to clean up the relief mess.

"If Governor Earle has any sense," observed one experienced observer following this Democratic row, "he will realize that this whirlwind of opposition to the State Relief System comes from every part of the Commonwealth, and will join with those bent upon saving millions of dollars for the taxpayers." But even as he spoke the Governor was challenging the Republican Senate on tax measures designed to cut a hundred million dollars from the tax load proposed by Earle.

Outrageous conditions were shown in every county coming under the attention of the investigating committee.

Representative John J. Haluska, of Cambria County, a Democrat, deserted the Democratic bosses and openly accused State Relief Director Robert J. Johnson with knowing that conditions were bad in Cambria County and with trying to cover them up by keeping the facts from reaching newspapermen. Haluska said he had convinced Johnson of the inefficiency of one relief official, and Johnson's reply was to suggest that he would be transferred from Cambria to Franklin county.

Haluska found that Administrator John A. Linton, of Cambria, had withheld $441.75 in "kickback" money, collected from workers not entitled to full amount of their checks, and had returned it to the State only on his complaint. The amount thus collected since 1932, Haluska said, might have been $10,000, although he did not charge any of it had been misappropriated.

One woman used her relief check to get a permanent wave and investigators refused to take men off relief in order to keep their quotas up to 100, and thus hold their own jobs.

The Vigilance Committee of Clearfield and Clinton counties testified that—

Daughters of legislators, bankers, presidents of Chambers of Commerce, wives of State Teachers' College professors who used the relief money thus received to splurge at country clubs and daughters of rich families and society leaders were given the fat jobs in the employ of the Relief Boards in these counties, while persons fully qualified for the work, and badly needing it, were refused positions, even though in examinations they stood at the head of the lists.

Jobless persons on State Relief in Clinton county were told to go out and steal the coal they needed, while those in nearby Clearfield county, where, it is charged there were favored contractors, got so much coal their celllars wouldn't hold it and it had to be dumped outside, at a time when many of them were in actual need of clothing.

A letter was read from Miss Nellie Burns, of Lock Haven, who gave a complete list of young women from well-to-do families who got the best paying relief jobs while she, who was supporting a widowed mother and invalid sister, was refused work although she could qualify under any one of four classifications.

Coal in one county was purchased from a favored dealer at a price one dollar more than the federal code.

Senator James E. Norton, Republican, testified that he knew of people who borrowed neighbors' children in order to qualify for more relief and that one Berks county man on relief bought a horse for $125.

This is but a brief summary of a vast volume of similar testimony brought out. Even more sensational evidence is forthcoming.

The investigation up to this time is a complete vindication of the Republican leadership's contention that the Governor does not need the immense sums in new taxes which he is demanding and that he can get along very well with the $60,000,000 which the Republicans are willing to supply.

HULMEVILLE, EDGELY, BRISTOL, DOLINGTON WIN

Hulmeville, A. A. and the Edgely Braves continued to set the pace in the Delaware River League by winning their scheduled contests yesterday. The Braves tossed out the Washington Crossing team, 4-3, and Hulmeville, winning, 6-1. In the other games played, Bristol A. A. blanked the Hibernians, 5-0, and Morrisville dropped another ten inning game, Dolington copping the verdict, 6-5.

"Jackie" Prall pitched the Braves to the victory over the Crossing team, equating a rally in the eighth frame to do it. Gray, of Washington Crossing, had one bad frame, the third, in which the Edgelys scored all their tallies. Two were out at the time the fireworks started.

Massilla singled to center, L. Hibbs batted a hit between short and third, Thompson was passed to fill the bases. With the count, 3 to 2, B. Prall lined a hit to right, all runners were off at the start of the pitch and scored easily when M. Garefino fumbled the ball. Wright tapped an easy roller to Gray, who errored. Bonfrancesco singled to center and Prall counted with the winning tally.

Stanley Carlen hurled fine ball in allowing the Lambertville team but five hits in the game played at Hulmeville. Carlen would have had a shut-out if Melsky had not connected with one of his pitches to drive it to deep left for a triple. "Andy" Pfaffenrath let the Hulmeville team chalk up its third straight win by connecting for three hits.

Morrisville lost a tough game to Dolington. The Reds had rallied to score three runs in the ninth and take the lead but Dolington came right back and deadlocked the score to cop the verdict with two gone in the tenth. Hill started the fatal inning with a double to center. Driggs advanced him on a fielder's choice and Matthew singled to send him across the plate.

Snow struck out twelve of the Morrisville batters. Hill, of Dolington, and Malmesbury had two doubles piece for their afternoon's work.

Ralph Stromp handed the Hibernians a fine coat of white-wash on Leedom's field. The Hibs made but three hits off the A. A. twirlers as Mulhollders' men rolled in five tallies. The winners made eleven hits, four going to Gene Dugan and three to "Joie" Heftman. "Joie" Roe got two of the Hibs' three hits. It was the third defeat in succession for the Big Green.

MacKenzie Ends Second In Big Feature Event

during the running of the card. There were some breathless moments however, and toward the end of the 50-mile classic several persons narrowly escaped death as they foolishly ran across the track as the racing cars thundered down on them. Johnny Duncan threw a tire after completing 40 miles of the feature race, but coasted to the pits without injury.

Hannon's two victories were scored in the most convincing manner. Driving an orange-red Miller Special, Hannon possessed the speed to outdistance his field, and once he hit the first turn from the pole position he never relinquished the lead. What competition he got came in both races from Doc Mackenzie, racing enthusiast, who placed second in the feature race and in the opening 10-mile heat.

Trailing Mackenzie in third place was Billy Winn, Kansas City racer who summers in Trenton. Ed Stanek, Caldwell, N. J.; Fred Winnai, Philadelphia; Len Perry, Madison, N. J.; Walt Keiper, Trenton; C. J. Baumgartner, Newark, and Don Church, New Brunswick, finished in that order. The winning time was 36:06 2-5.

Hannon might have had more competition had not Ken Fowler's car developed motor trouble in the opening race. He had a fast mount and equalled Hannon's time in the qualifying trials. Hannon's time for the 10-mile heat was also the fastest for the day for that distance. It was 6:40.

Keiper's victory was the best race of the day from the standpoint of competition. He trailed Bob Sall for nine laps, stayed at his rear axle until he hit the stretch for the last time and then flashed past the judges to win by less than 10 yards. He was given a big hand by the crowd, which incidentally was the largest that ever attended an automobile race at Langhorne.

The summaries:
First heat: Won by Johnny Hannon; second, Doc Mackenzie; third, Billy Winn; fourth, Ken Fowler. Time: 6:40.
Second heat: Won by Walt Keiper; second, Bob Sall; third, Len Perry; fourth, Eddie Stanek. Time: 7:18 4-5.
Third heat: Won by Bill Scarside; second, Fred Winnai; third, Milt Marjoni; fourth, Cy Vocum. Time: 7:31.
Fourth heat: Won by Harry Angeloni; second, John Duncan; third, C. J. Baumgartner; fourth, Don Church. Time: 7:32.

Consolation race: Won by Johnny Morretti; second, Ralph Gottschall; third, Bill Shoop; fourth, Tommy Hinterschmidt. Time: 7:59.
50-mile classic: Won by Johnny Hannon; second, Doc Mackenzie; third, Billy Winn; fourth, Ed Stanek. Time: 36:06 2-5.
